My motto?
Always connect.

 about me

During the day I work as a publicity and program coordinator at the University of Iowa's International Writing Program. From design and writing to project management and public relations, I spend my time connecting with organizations and people from around the globe. In my free time, I enjoy designing and building websites, binge watching TV shows, and travelling.

Development and Design

I specialize in WordPress, with experience in HTML5, CSS3, and responsive design.

Communications

I enjoy the challenge of creating a united message through social media management, blogging, public relations, and more.

Cross-Cultural Competence

Effectively engage with your audience, ensuring that your message transcends cultural differences.
